

The food systems takes a holistic and multi-dimensional approach in solving the complex problems of agriculture and food space. It can enable achieving the SDG goals through the integrated lens of People, Planet and Prosperity. As the B20 secretariat, CII is organizing and facilitating a Global Dialogue on “Food Systems Transformation” with the objective of engaging industry stakeholders in G20 countries to shape the future of food systems and showcasing implementation models for food systems transformation.

The Global Dialogue will bring together global thought leaders and showcase best practices and implementation models from G20 countries. The sessions will focus on the pathways towards implementing food system transformation to ensure sustainable production, food security and nutrition and outline priorities and defining actionable goals under the G20 umbrella.
