

BRAND GUIDELINES

GAIN NAME AND LOGO

The objective of the following guidelines is to:

- Set out a policy on the conditions of the use of the GAIN name and logo that allows the GAIN name and logo to be used widely enough to ensure visibility for GAIN and its work.
- Minimise the risk that the GAIN name and logo appear on documents and products that do not reflect the GAIN policy or in a way that is inconsistent with the correct logo design and presentation.

OLD LOGO

One grain is in a different colour.

NEW LOGO

In the new logo, all grains are of the same colour.

GAIN LOGO

The GAIN logo consists of three elements:

- The bowl of grain.
- The acronym "GAIN".
- The words "Global Alliance for Improved Nutrition".

In general, all three elements should be presented as a unit. The GAIN logo should always be displayed in such a way as to ensure that the words "Global Alliance for Improved Nutrition" are legible. In exceptional circumstances - where space is restricted, for example on the spine of a book - the bowl of grain and the acronym "GAIN" can be used without fully spelling out the name of the Foundation.

GAIN NAME

We are officially registered as “The Global Alliance for Improved Nutrition”, abbreviated as GAIN. The “GAIN” acronym should always be written with capital letters.

The working language at GAIN is English.

The GAIN name should not be translated into other languages.

Examples of unacceptable use of the GAIN name :

- ~~the global alliance for improved nutrition~~ → lowercase is not acceptable.
- ~~GAIN health~~ → our official name is GAIN – The Global Alliance for Improved Nutrition, not “GAIN health”.
- ~~Alliance globale pour une meilleure nutrition~~ → the GAIN name should not be translated into other languages.

COLOURS

Wherever possible, the GAIN logo should be presented in colour on a white background. It is acceptable for the logo to be reversed out on a coloured background and for the logo to appear in white. The GAIN logo can appear in black only on a black and white document. No other colour should be used for the GAIN logo.

The GAIN logo is available in English only. It should not be translated into other languages.

Standard version: the GAIN logo in colour should be used on a white background whenever possible.

Negative version: the white logo can be used on a bordeaux background.

Black and white version: the black logo can be used on black and white documents only.

Never change proportions, colours, typefaces or language of the logotype. Examples of unacceptable use of the GAIN logo:

Do not use black on a coloured background.

Do not use weak contrast.

Do not change proportions.

Do not change colours.

Do not change typeface.

Do not translate
"Global Alliance for Improved Nutrition".

The bowl should not be separated from the rest of the logo, especially on official documents.

Do not use a blurred,
low resolution logo.
