I. PROJECT BACKGROUND AND SCOPE OF WORK

1. ABOUT GAIN
The Global Alliance for Improved Nutrition (GAIN) is a Swiss-based foundation launched at the UN in 2002 to tackle the human suffering caused by malnutrition. Working with both governments and businesses, we aim to transform food systems so that they deliver more nutritious food for all people. At GAIN, we believe that everyone in the world should have access to nutritious and safe food. We work to understand and deliver specific solutions to the daily challenge of food insecurity faced by poor people. By understanding that there is no "one-size-fits-all" model, we develop alliances and build tailored programmes, using a variety of flexible models and approaches.

We build alliances between governments, local and global businesses, and civil society to deliver sustainable improvements at scale. We are part of a global network of partners working together to create sustainable solutions to malnutrition. Through alliances, we provide technical, financial and policy support to key participants in the food system. We use specific learning, evidence of impact, and results of projects and programmes to shape and influence the actions of others. Headquartered in Geneva, Switzerland, GAIN has representative offices in Denmark, The Netherlands, the United Kingdom, and the United States. In addition, we have country offices in Bangladesh, Ethiopia, India, Indonesia, Kenya, Mozambique, Nigeria, Pakistan, and Tanzania. Programmes and projects are carried out in a variety of other countries, particularly in Africa and Asia.

2. BACKGROUND
GAIN is currently implementing the Keeping Food Markets Working (KFMW) Programme in Kenya, which is an emergency response to the COVID-19 pandemic, by offering rapid support to sustain core food systems, workers and markets during the pandemic. Poor diets are already responsible for the majority of the world’s global disease burden. The COVID-19 virus and the control responses to it contribute to threaten secondary effects of increased food prices, food shortages, civil unrest and exacerbate existing inequalities (based on, for example, income, gender, and ethnicity). The potential strangulation of food systems from collapsing food value chains, including the devastating impact on markets and effective demand, is capable of enormously amplifying health and social stability problems – threatening to worsen food crisis’ already affecting the most vulnerable.

GAIN’s goal is to mitigate the collapse of food systems by supporting food markets and the value chain companies while strengthening equitable policy responses that can be delivered quickly to support continuity and protect sustainability of key workers in food systems in Low and Middle Income Countries, especially in Africa and Asia, which face potentially catastrophic supply and demand disruption. This programme has the overarching goal of mitigating the risk of economic collapse of food systems to sustain the availability and affordability of nutritious and safe foods, and contribute to lowering the burden of ill-health, particularly for the most vulnerable.

As such, one of the implementation pathways of KFMW seeks to have an elaborate understanding of how food markets have been impacted. Initial interventions and assessments conducted by GAIN in two markets in Kenya - Marikiti market in Kiambu and Madaraka market in Machakos - demonstrate that there are major gaps in terms of behaviour change communication towards containment of COVID-19 by vendors and customers.

To address these gaps, GAIN in collaboration with National Government and the County Governments of Kiambu and Machakos are in the process of rolling out a number of Information, Education and Communication materials aimed at improving community awareness and addressing misconceptions hindering compliance towards COVID-19 measures.

The consultant will work with the KFMW Kenya team and GAIN’s communications team to translate the various set of materials into Swahili and any other local language as advised, and where possible engage target audiences and contribute to the goals of the KFMW programme’s goals through consistent dissemination of the materials The team is looking for someone who can effectively translate the existing materials into Swahili and other languages as advised with a view to inspire vendors, consumers and county officials to take positive action wards preventing COVID-19 infections while at the same time guarantee access to safe and nutritious foods for all.
