INTRODUCTION

The Global Alliance for Improved Nutrition (GAIN) is a Swiss-based foundation launched at the UN in 2002 to tackle the human suffering caused by malnutrition. Working with both governments and businesses, we aim to transform food systems so that they deliver more nutritious food for all people.

At GAIN, we believe that everyone in the world should have access to nutritious and safe food. We work to understand and deliver specific solutions to the daily challenge of food insecurity faced by poor people. By understanding that there is no “one-size-fits-all” model, we develop alliances and build tailored programmes, using a variety of flexible models and approaches.

We build alliances between governments, local and global businesses, and civil society to deliver sustainable improvements at scale. We are part of a global network of partners working together to create sustainable solutions to malnutrition. Through alliances, we provide technical, financial and policy support to key participants in the food system. We use specific learning, evidence of impact, and results of projects and programmes to shape and influence the actions of others.

Headquartered in Geneva, Switzerland, GAIN has representative offices in The Netherlands, the United Kingdom, and the United States. We currently have a presence and conduct programming activities in Bangladesh, Benin, Ethiopia, India, Indonesia, Kenya, Mozambique, Nigeria, Pakistan, Rwanda, Tanzania and Uganda

GAIN in Ethiopia has been re-registered and accorded legal personality with re-registered and accorded legal personality with registry Number 2896 by Federal Democratic Republic of Ethiopia Agency for Civil Society Organization. GAIN as a partner in Ethiopian food system transformation, is promoting healthy food production and processing in Ethiopia.

BACKGROUND & TIMESCALES

As part of its support to the implementation of Ethiopia’s Food Systems Transformation Pathway, GAIN, in collaboration with key stakeholders, is supporting the development of a subnational Ethiopia Food Systems Dashboard. This dashboard will serve as a comprehensive, integrated data platform that compiles and organizes food systems data across regions and local levels, enabling more inclusive, evidence-based planning, improved cross-sector coordination, and effective monitoring of food systems transformation to advance nutrition, livelihoods, resilience, and sustainability.

The purpose of this RFP is to engage services of a qualified organisation to provide qualified consultants to conduct a data landscape analysis, to develop a subnational Food Systems Dashboard for Ethiopia. This assignment focuses exclusively on the data side, and does not include dashboard design, visualization, or software development.

- The organization will identify relevant data sources for the +500 indicators identified as part of the Monitoring and Evaluation Framework for Ethiopian Food Systems Transformation and Nutrition which include 7 clusters and 24 game changers and a multi-level indicator structure:
  - Impact (high-level)
  - Cluster (intermediate)
  - Game changer
  - Output / activity indicators

The assignment will ensure availability of structured, harmonized, and sub nationally disaggregated datasets aligned with these frameworks.

Proposed timescale for this procurement.

It is a guide and whilst the GAIN does not intend to depart from the timetable, it reserves the right to do so at any stage.

THE OPPORTUNITY

Food systems are vital to drive a wide range of outcomes that are important for people and planet: nutrition improvement, hunger reduction, livelihoods, greenhouse gas reduction, and sustainable natural resource use, to name a few. Addressing the interconnected challenges of malnutrition, climate change, social equity, and resilience while advancing food systems transformations to achieve the Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs) requires a comprehensive and coordinated approach, but also a better understanding of food systems at both national and subnational levels. The Food Systems Dashboard was developed to make it easier for governments, businesses, civil society and international agencies to make more effective decisions to transform food systems to deliver these goals.

ABOUT THE FOOD SYSTEMS DASHBOARD

The Food Systems Dashboard developed by GAIN and its partners Columbia Climate School, FAO, and Cornell College of Agriculture and Life Sciences brings together extant data from public and private sources - organized using a conceptual framework modified from the HLPE in 2017<sup>1</sup> - to help decision makers diagnose their food systems and identify all their levers of change and the ones that need to be pulled first.

The Dashboard was launched on an open-access platform on June 1, 2020. It currently comprises national-level data with about 300 indicators across food systems. The global Dashboard has three core functionalities, known as the "three Ds": it Describes country food systems, Diagnoses them to assess how they are performing, and supports decision-makers to Decide on appropriate actions by linking diagnostic findings to a curated set of potential policy options.

ABOUT THE FOOD SYSTEMS COUNTDOWN INITIATIVE

The Food Systems Countdown Initiative (FSCI) ("the Countdown") is a global effort to monitor and track the progress of food systems transformation. Developed by an interdisciplinary collaboration of scientists following the 2021 United Nations Food Systems Summit, the FSCI utilizes a 50-indicator framework to provide annual insights that support Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs) and other global targets. This initiative aims to equip stakeholders such as civil society, governments, and international organizations with the evidence needed to make informed, transformative decisions in food systems.

The FSCI is working to build a science-based observational system using a food systems framework to track global food systems and their changes to 2030. Given the complexity and cross-sectoral nature of food systems, this monitoring framework is essential to measure all aspects of these systems and their interactions. By providing transparent and data-driven assessments, the FSCI framework helps guide decision-makers and hold accountable those in positions of power to ensure meaningful food system changes.

THE COUNTRY FOOD SYSTEMS DASHBOARDS

In 2022, the Dashboard team partnered with national governments to develop country-specific dashboards that consolidate sub-national data, creating a centralized platform to support evidence-based decision-making in six countries: Bangladesh, Indonesia, Kenya, Mozambique, Nigeria, and Pakistan. GAIN is currently initiating the development of country Dashboards in Brazil, Ethiopia, India, Ethiopia, and Rwanda.

The country dashboards aim to deepen understanding of the diversity, complexity, and interconnections within national food systems, which are often poorly understood. Food systems are inherently complex, and countries have multiple food systems across administrative regions or agroecological zones, each with unique characteristics. These subnational dashboards were designed to offer detailed, context-specific descriptions and diagnostics of food systems, along with a curated menu of evidence-based policy options and actions to support the development of integrated national and sub-national food system action plans and policies.
